

Evaluating Educational Outcomes: A Professional Development for Faculty Members

Within the framework of developing the professional aspect and enhancing the level of performance of faculty members, the College of Business Administration at Al Falah University organized a scientific meeting on the methods used in evaluating educational outcomes presented by the Dean of the College of Business Administration, Dr. Panagiotis Kokkalis.

The meeting was attended by the President, Prof. Abdelhafid Belarbi, Deans of Colleges and faculty members.

The meeting aims for the faculty members to be acquainted with the modern methods used in university education to keep pace with scientific developments and to upgrade educational outputs in accordance with advanced global standards.

Dr. Kokkalis tackled several important topics including educational strategies and methods for assessing educational outcomes.

Categories:

AFU News

Professional Development